TESTIMONIALS

Engaging in the Edjustice Foundation's immersion program was transformative. It went beyond the surface level, challenging my understanding of ground reality. It acted as a profound check to my privilege and, in turn, broadened my horizons. The experience of working with children in government schools and developing frameworks for their capacity development was not only eye-opening but also immensely educational. It allowed me to move beyond perceiving the field as 'the other' and instead, decode it structurally and systematically through a community-driven lens.

Ifra Shams Ansari
Batch of 2019

Travelling across Bihar and interacting with students in government schools during the Shiksha Yatra 2019 was a benchmark in my immersion journey. Witnessing the zealous aspirations and immense potential of young students while they tackle hardships, is something which has kept me up and active in this transformative program. I have grown as a volunteer, as a believer and most importantly as an aware leader.

Shubham Mudgil
Batch of 2019 & 20

Participating in the summer immersion program was truly empowering. It was a life-changing experience that acted as a superpower, altering my perspective on the world. The program provided me with a clear direction, revealing that not every world looks the same as we might think. Additionally, it was incredibly transformative for me. It helped me break free from the confines of my city bubble, exposing me to real-life problems that demanded innovative solutions. Through this immersion, I not only identified my own challenges but also discovered the strength to overcome them.

Rajat Rao
Batch of 2019 & 20

The summer immersion program was an insightful journey for me that went beyond just identifying problems. It taught me to view challenges not merely as obstacles but as opportunities to build solutions. I gained a new understanding of how progress and positive change can occur over time, given the right potential and spirit to make a difference. It encouraged me to see the world differently. It equipped me with the tools to recognize problems, but more importantly, it instilled in me the belief that I have the capacity and the right spirit to contribute to meaningful change.
